CLAIM TO OWN
RAINBOW VEINClark Interests Start Interesting
Suit Against B. & S. Co.

Butte, Mont., July 25.—The Clark Montana Realty company and the Clark Mining company, both owned by former Senator W. A. Clark, today instituted a suit against the Butte & Superior company, which has for its object the determining of the ownership of the Rainbow vein, which crosses diagonally the extreme west end of the Black Rock claim of the Butte & Superior company.

No ore has been extracted from the disputed zone for the past two years, but prior to that time the Clark interests ask for an accounting of the nominal figure of $50,000 as the value of the ore mined. The suit asks that the Butte & Superior be restrained from mining the Rainbow.

The proceedings practically are in the nature of a friendly suit, according to the Clark people. The area involved in the controversy is comparatively small and does not embrace any part of the Black Rock vein which the Butte & Superior has been mining since the construction of its mill. The suit admits the ownership by the Butte & Superior of the Black Rock, Jersey lode and other claims, questioning ownership only to the Rainbow vein, which Apex, it is claimed, is in the Elk Ore claim.

COAL BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

More Than 570 Million Tons Mined in 1913. Value, $760,000,000.

The production of coal in the United States has again broken all previous records, the output for 1913 being 574,445,000 short tons, which is considerably more than double the production of 1900 and more than eight times the production of 1880, according to a statement just issued by the United States Geological Survey, from figures compiled by Edward W. Parker, coal statistician. The value of the coal mined in 1913 is given as $760,000,000.

Compared with the previous year the output for 1913 shows an increase of 12,581,545 tons, or nearly 7 per cent. The increased activity indicated by these figures was well distributed throughout the 29 coal-producing states, 23 of which showed increases and only 5 decreased production, the decrease in one of these—Colorado—being due solely to later trouble.

Of these showing increases, 12 made record yields, and Kentucky, the leading coal state, broke records in both its lump and anthracite production. The states which broke all former records in coal production were Alabama, Illinois, Kentucky, Montana, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, Virginia, and West Virginia. The largest increase in the production of bituminous coal was in Pennsylvania, where 1,515,729 tons was added to the output of 1912. West Virginia showed the second largest gain, 4,522,245 tons, and Kentucky the third largest gain, 3,126,473 tons, which was also the largest percentage of increase, amounting to 18 per cent, of all the important coal-producing states. Indiana was fourth, Illinois fifth, Ohio sixth and Alabama seventh. While the 1914 increase was very large as shown in tons, the percentage increase may be considered normal and indicative of healthy industrial activity throughout the country.

BROKERS' GOSSIP

New Arcadian.
New Arcadian has found the lode, on which the shaft is located and which for 25 feet above the 500 foot level disclosed a width of 60 feet with commercial values, to be enlarged to the width of twelve feet with the copper disseminated very uniformly in the pit cut to allow the top of the shaft to be brought even with the floor of the level. The favorable change in the character of the lode and the increasing concentration with depth would seem to offer more than an even chance that when the shaft is carried further down that a great extent of paying values will be encountered.

Wyandot.
Wyandot is finding that the coal drift on the 5th level just opened is showing copper all through and that the coal drift which has just passed through a barren width of about five to six feet between two "blips" of faults is coming into the good ground again. The drifts have been enlarged to a width of eight feet and will be still further enlarged to ten feet, in order to give a better idea of the contents. The eight foot face of the eastern drift is completely in high grade rock and almost in the center there is a piece of "copper rock" about the size of a man's head. The present showing certainly indicates that this No. 8 lode will prove good with depth.

HISTORIC LONDON LANDMARK DOOMED.

London, July 25.—In spite of the protests of persons and societies interested in the preservation of old landmarks, the building at 55 or 56 Great Queen street, known as Bowell's House, is doomed to make place for a modern Freemason's hall. Besides its historical association with Bowell, Johnson, Garrick and other distinguished men of that time, the house is an interesting example of seventeenth century design. If not done by Inigo Jones, says one antiquarian, it was at least the work of one of the Jones' school.

Uniforms in 30,000 Lots

New York, July 25.—Anyone who will believe that "Pancho" Villa has no well organized military force might profitably observe the activities of Senor Don Jose P. Farías de Juárez, Mex., who is staying at the Astor Hotel with Senor Farías. Senor Farías courteously avoids discussion of any of the political aspects of Mexican affairs, but the large purchases of clothing he makes often and regularly for Villa's army throw an interesting light upon its size and importance and upon the desperate character of its numerous engagements.

"This week I bought 30,000 pairs of shoes, while four weeks ago the order was for 25,000 pairs," Senor Farías said yesterday. "Other items for the current order are uniforms of olive drab khaki 25,000; knitted undershirt, 20,000; socks, 10,000; pairs; military campaign hats about 10,000. Believe me, they need warm clothing at night in the mountains. The supplies are delivered in lots of about 5,000 to 6,000 weekly at the commercial headquarters of the army of Northern Mexico in Juárez."

"Whenever another city is taken by Gen. Villa we must have thousands more of everything needed by the soldiers, most of whom are cavalry. The loss of uniforms worn by the killed and wounded is large, and always there is a great rush of new recruits to join the army after those victories. All have been victories for Gen. Villa, you know. Of course, we must have adequate supplies all ready on hand to meet such emergencies, as well as the normal demand through wearing out of uniforms, shoes and other similar equipment. These men fight hard and they are hard on clothing. With between 25,000 and 40,000 actually engaged with the army of northern Mexico today, clothing supplies must go to them regularly in large quantities and often. And Villa started with only sixty men, remember."

"Isn't there considerable loss beyond that from wear and tear?" was asked. "We try to provide against that. Everything worn by a Constitutional soldier bears the stamp 'Ejército (Army) Constitucional de México.'"

"Do you purchase for Gen. Carranza?"

"There is wide misunderstanding concerning Gen. Carranza. He is the civil chief of the Constitutionals. He is not a military chief. I purchase only for the army of northern Mexico, the Villa forces."

England Proposes To Give Workmen 7 Days To Pay Fines.
London, July 25.—Female "Bobbies" will be a feature of London life if Lord Renshaw's amendment to the criminal justice bill is carried by Parliament. He proposes that each metropolitan and county borough should have at least two women police constables.

NEW METHODIST UNIVERSITIES.

Atlanta has been selected as the location for the university to be established by the Methodist Episcopal church, South. The university to be established by the church west of the Mississippi already has been awarded to Dallas, Texas.

There is official confirmation of the report that $1,000,000 has been given to the new university by Asa G. Candler of Atlanta, a brother of Bishop Candler. The university as contemplated will represent an investment of $5,000,000.

The establishment of the two universities was decided upon by the church following its controversy with the board of trustees of Vanderbilt university of Nashville over control of that institution.

DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE.

Peter Waker, Aged 93 Years, Succumbs at County Infirmary.

The death occurred late last evening at the County Infirmary of Peter Waker, aged 93 years, of Calumet, who had been an inmate of the institution for a number of years. Old age and the ailments incident to it were the cause of his demise. Mr. Waker was born in Poland and had resided in the copper country for an extended period, working for local mining companies until advanced age caused his retirement and made it necessary for him to move to the infirmary. He is survived by a wife and family living in Calumet. The remains have been brought to the Ryan undertaking parlors and the funeral services will be held in this city, probably Monday.

INTEREST IN HOLDING CO.

Business men of Calumet and Laurium are manifesting deep interest in the meeting to be held in the town hall Tuesday evening, for a discussion of the proposal to organize a $100,000 stock company to act as a holding company, to assist new industries in locating in the copper country. J. G. Brown of Gailin, O., the expert engaged by the Commercial club to direct the organization, will address the meeting.

FIRST LOCOMOTIVE.

The first locomotive was completed and put into operation just a century ago, in 1814, by George Stephenson, who was born in Wigan, England, June 9, 1781. He was engineer at a colliery when he invented a traveling engine to draw wagons along a tramway. Stephenson's first locomotive attained a speed of six miles an hour. Improvement after improvement was made, not only in the locomotive, but in the rails, and in 1825, Stephenson opened the first railway, which was eight miles in length.

In 1829, his locomotive, the Rocket, reached a speed of thirty-five miles an hour, winning the prize of $2,500 offered by the Liverpool and Manchester railway company. The entire system of railway locomotion, with stations, signals, tenders and carriages, was completed with the inauguration of the Liverpool and Manchester line in 1830. Stephenson was largely instrumental in establishing all the English and foreign lines during the first period of railroading. He died in 1848.

The century of steam locomotives finds those engines improved and enlarged beyond the wildest dreams of the inventor, but already threatened with extinction by the electric locomotive.

"We must try to interest the uninitiated student," he said. "He must not be allowed to wait till the last minute to decide what he is going to do with his life."

"If in the seventh grade we can instill ambition, we have accomplished a great deal. It's easier to instill ambition in boys than in girls. We find the boy intensely interested and awake in this topic. He likes to see things done and he is a great imitator. Take the influence of the old-time dime novel, and the number of cowboys it made. We can make use of that very quality in boys of the seventh-grade age. We can give them an ambition of greatest achievement."

"Try to help them make an unhurried decision. By a process of elimination narrow down the field of endeavor for the boy and girl, always urging his ambition—then he himself must work out his own salvation."
